Strand 2: Connections to Other Disciplines

Studying a world language involves making connections with other academic disciplines, formally and informally. The language art skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing are key parts of world language communication. As students learn how to use numbers and currency, mathematics and economics are connected with language performance. Social Studies, art, health and physical education, science, and music are important parts of cultural understanding and are integrated throughout linguistic communication. Career and technical skills are incorporated into relative topics, and technology is integrated throughout world languages as a resource for materials and a means of expression and presentation.

Strand 3: Intercultural Competencies
Students preparing for success in the 21 st Century need to access knowledge and information from other communities and cultures and use that information to function well with people from diverse backgrounds. To avoid stereotyping cultures, it is recommended that teachers give global examples whenever possible. Because Intercultural Competence measures awareness, there is no pre-existing scale by which to measure student growth. Students will develop worldwide awareness through in-class activities and community-based projects.
